PhilKids

Thanks to the vision and support of longtime Calgary Phil supporter Judith Kilbourne, the Calgary Phil launched PhilKids in 2015 — an El Sistema inspired free after school music program designed to fuel and support the empowerment of children through the exploration of music.

Through PhilKids, musicians from the Calgary Phil work side by side with elementary school students as they learn and grow as young people and musicians. In grades one and two, students develop basic musicianship skills by learning about the instruments in the orchestra and how to use their voice as an instrument. Once students have a grounding in the basics of music, they are able to learn violin, cello, trumpet, flute, or percussion.

Through their journey in PhilKids, students discover themselves along with the music, creating friendships and discovering a community that supports them. They often uncover strengths and talents they might not have realized they had, and how to appreciate the strengths and talents of others.
